Some Oxford County ladies send the following recipes:

Economy Pudding.—Prepare nice tart apples the same as for pies. Put a layer of apple in the dish it is to be cooked in, and sprinkle lightly with sugar and the kind of spice desired. Then put in a layer of slices of stale bread, and so on, until the dish is full, with apple on top. If the apples are not very juicy a little water must be added. Cover, and steam two hours.

Baked Indian Pudding.—Heat one quart of milk to boiling, stir into it one cup sifted corn meal, one cup molasses, one teaspoon salt, and a piece of butter size of an egg, then add one pint cold milk. Bake two hours in a moderate oven, stirring often at first to prevent settling.

Snow on Mountain Pudding.—Three crackers rolled fine, one pint of boiling milk poured on them, stir well together, two tablespoons sugar, a little salt, yolks of two well beaten eggs, bake ½ hour.

Cabbage Salad.—One pint of vinegar, one cup of sugar, one egg, butter size of half an egg, a little salt and pepper, a dash of Worcestershire sauce, put all in a stew pan and let come to a boil; chop one cabbage fine and put in.

Snow Pudding.—Into one pint of boiling water stir three tablespoons of corn starch wet in cold water, with one teaspoonful of sugar and a little salt. Beat the whites of three eggs to a stiff froth, when the mixture is taken from the fire, stir the beaten eggs into it very quickly and thoroughly.

Sauce.—Yolks of three eggs and beat them with a half cup of sugar, flavor with vanilla. Have one cup milk heated to boiling and stir in the eggs and sugar until it creams. (Care should be taken not to let it stay on too long or it will curdle. It is very nice without the sauce; eat sugar and cream on it.)

Corn Meal Fritters.—One cup of buttermilk or soda, one egg, salt, meal enough for a thin batter and a little flour.

A Simple Corn Remedy.—Mix salt and vinegar together and rub on at night for three or four nights and you will have no more trouble with them.—[Mrs. Cynthia Bisbee.]

A Winter Window Garden.—Put evergreen between the inner and double window, then make tissue paper flowers and put in with the evergreen. It gives one a pleasant thought in the dreary winter.—[Mrs. Cynthia Bisbee, West Sumner.]

Eggless Cake.—One cup molasses, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup sour milk, ½ cup sweet milk, ½ cup shortening, 1 heaping teaspoon soda, spice of your liking, little salt.—[L. F. West Sumner.]

Pare and chop six large apples, butter a dish and cover bottom with half inch deep with bread crumbs, then add a lump of butter. Next put in a layer of apple with sugar and nutmeg. Repeat until the dish is filled. Pour over it one cup of water and bake 30 minutes. Eat with or without sauce.—[M. J. P., West Sumner.]

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cures a Prominent Attorney.

M. R. C. PHELPS, the leading pension attorney of Belfast, N. Y., writes:

"I was discharged from the army on account of ill health, and suffered from heart trouble ever since. My mind was bent as a man of 50. I constantly wore an overcoat, even in summer, for fear of taking cold. I could not attend to my business. My rest was broken by severe pains about the heart and left shoulder. Three years ago I commenced using Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, notwithstanding I had used so much patent medicine and taken drugs from doctors for years without being helped. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure restored me to health. It is truly a wonderful medicine and it affords me much pleasure to recommend this remedy to everyone."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address, DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

INCURABLE.

(Copyright, 1895, by the Author.)

"No answer is also an answer," he said, driven to bay. "Thou understandest well enough. Thyself saidst it was public talk."

"Ah-h-h!" in a stifled shriek of despair. Her intuition divined everything. The shadowy, sinister suggestions she had so long beat back by force of will took form and substance. Her head fell back on the pillow, the eyes closed. He staid on, bending awkwardly over her.

"So sick, so sick, so sick!" moaned the grandmother.

"Thou sayest they have compassion on thee in their talk," he murmured at last, half-deprecatingly, half-resentfully. "Have they none on me?"

Her silence chilled him. "But thou hast compassion, Sarah," he urged. "Thou understandest."

Presently she reopened her eyes. "Thou art not gone?" she murmured. "No; thou seest I am not tired of thee, Sarah, my life. Only—"

"Will thou wash my skin and not make me wet?" she interrupted bitterly. "Go home. Go home to her!" "I will not go home."

he, takes me thou wilt live a daily sinner." "I am not to blame. God has stricken me. I am a young man."

"Thou art to blame!" Her eyes flashed fire. "Blessed be, life is sweet to thee, yet perhaps thou wilt die first!" His face grew livid.

"I am a young man," he repeated tremulously. "Thou dost forget what Rabbi Eliezer said, 'Repent one day before thy death'—that is today, for who knows?"

"What wouldst thou have me do?" "Give up!" "No, no," he interrupted. "It is useless. I cannot. I am so lonely."

"Give up," she repeated inexorably, "thy wife."

"What sayest thou? My wife! But she is not my wife. Thou art my wife."

"Even so. Give me up. Give me Geth (divorce)."

True, thou didst bear me children, but they withered as by the evil eye. My only son is across the ocean. He bath no love for me or you."

The recital of their common griefs softened her toward him. "Go," she whispered. "Go and send me the Geth. Go to the Maggid. He knew my grandfather. He is the man to arrange it for thee with his friends. Tell him it is my wish."

"God shall reward thee. How can I thank thee for giving thy consent?" "What else have I to give thee, my Herzl, I who eat the bread of strangers? Truly says the proverb, 'When one begs of a beggar, the Herr God laughs!'"

"I will send thee the Geth as soon as possible."

"Thou art right; I am a thorn in thine eye. Pluck me out quickly."

"Thou wilt not refuse the Geth when it comes?" he replied apprehensively. "Is it not a wife's duty to submit? Nay, have no fear. Thou shalt have no difficulty in serving the Geth upon me. I will not throw it in the messenger's face, and thou wilt marry her?"

"Assuredly. People will no longer talk, and she must bide with me. It is my one desire."

Frank Cushman of Bryant's Pond, a popular guide and sportsman, arrived at Berlin, N. H., recently from the Kennebag region, 24 fox skins, two bear skins and one coon skin.

"A neatly time," aptly describes the state of affairs in this village, there being thirty-eight cases, last Monday, and the returns not all in.

The house and barn of Frank Gilpatrick, situated in Hiram, about four miles from this village, were destroyed by fire, early last Tuesday morning.

James Towle, watchman in the woolen mill, saw the blaze and rang the alarm for fire, but it was too far away for the villagers to render any practical aid.

Judging from recent articles in the Advertiser, it would appear that the experiences of other villages coincides with that of our own. Last year, the cider mills throughout the State ground out a prodigious amount of juice, with a result too palpable to be winked at.

This year, the apple crop is light and the cider drunkard has turned to other beverages, which a neighboring State and runners from the liquor firms of various cities have amply supplied, consequently drunkenness has been on the increase.

On a recent holiday, a group of a dozen or more young men were seen on a store piazza, all more or less under the influence of liquor, one of the number being so generously inclined that he tried to force some tobacco into the mouth of an unfeeling animal. On the same day, two men who had been hobnobbing together had a falling out, one claiming he could lick any man in the country, the other asserting he could do that much with one hand tied behind his back, whereupon there was a mutual clinching, and as one was as drunk as the other, they fell together, rose together and eventually rolled together. They were having a "good time, nobody's business but their own," yet if they had not been separated and taken perforce to their habitations, one or the other might have had occasion to admonish a crowd in the words of the murderer who is to be hung on the 7th of the coming year, "Well, boys, you see what rum has done for me."

About twenty-five of the friends of Eva Proctor gave her a surprise party, last Friday evening, it being her birthday. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all. A fine treat was served by the other members of the family. A fine album was presented to her and all united in wishing her many happy returns of the day.

The news that Sharkey had defeated Goddard seemed to greatly disappoint a gentleman here. He had proclaimed the sailor a quitter, but says hereafter he will listen to headquarters. Mary Cummings of Bethel visited friends and relatives in town, last week.

Walter Wheeler has returned to Rumford Falls, where he was employed, last season.

Abel Andrews has gone to Dover, N. H., to visit a sister. He may take in the "Hub" before he returns.

Elbridge Bird has returned to Jackson, N. H., from a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace W. Bird.

The Ladies' Club met with Mrs. A. G. Bean. Their next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Nellie Flint. These meetings are of much interest.

Leon Kimball has gone to East Candia, N. H., with the intention of remaining all winter in the employ of his uncle, Jacob F. Holt, a shoe manufacturer.

Mrs. Dora Becker entertained the L. S. C. at her brother's, George Cummings', last Thursday afternoon and evening. A large attendance and a good time.

Many friends in this, her former home, the happy couple held a reception at the home of his parents, Friday evening. About forty of their friends were in attendance, leaving evidence of their friendship by the donation of many useful and beautiful gifts.

The young couple have the best wishes of her former friends in this place.

Bolester's Mills Dramatic Club will give an entertainment at Grange Hall, next Saturday evening.

We all hope next Saturday evening, as they will have a large attendance, as their drama is worthy of a well filled house.

Ethel Nelson is home from Massachusetts and teaching in the school at East Waterford, where she has taught very successfully for two terms previously.

W. W. Watson has returned from Boston. He succeeded in contracting for several car loads of boxes, so the spark of life may not become extinct in this village.

A very successful term of high school is being conducted here, under the instruction of Mr. Libby of Gardiner. There are thirty-five scholars enrolled and much interest is manifested.

The Bolster's Mills Dramatic Club is billed to appear at this place in Village Hall, Saturday evening next, in "The Man from Maine." We bespeak for them a hearty welcome from an appreciative audience.

The ladies of the Universalist Circle gave a social entertainment and supper at their hall, Wednesday evening, which was well attended. A male quartet from Bridgton was present, and furnished a very nice program; and the Peak sisters were very much in evidence. A very neat sum was realized.

Geo. Goding, who has had charge of the manufacture of boots at this place since Mr. Abbott assumed charge at the Bethel factory, severs his connection with this company on the 20th inst. Mr. G. thoroughly understands the business, as is evidenced by the prizes he secured at the New England and State fairs, last season.

There seems to be a marked absence of business enterprise, or the presence of personal selfishness in about the same degree, when a large amount of timber is to be handled directly through this village to Newbury in the log, with the excellent facilities that we have for cutting lumber here.

W. K. Hamlin, the manager of our butter factory, and Wm. Bradford, who is soon to assume the responsibility of manufacturing the crude cream at this establishment into a gilt edge product, attended the state dairy meeting at Bangor, last week. Mr. Hamlin has not fully recovered from a severe illness when he left home for Bangor, and since his return is confined to the house.

The growth of our Grange in point of numbers, for the past year or two, has been unprecedented, if not phenomenal, and we hear the story of the desirability of a juvenile department to this important order being formed, seriously considered. Material for the making of good members who represent the agricultural interests of the community is getting scarce about here, and neighboring towns are being invaded, with the result that new members are being admitted, nearly every week.

Clarence Mitchell and W. E. Russell of Hartford have contracted to haul 300 cords of white birch into Holman's mill, 200 cords of it from G. H. Newman's and 100 cords from W. S. Marble's. D. W. Hewey has a crew cutting for the same mill.

The Musicals.
The Musicals at the Universalist church, Friday evening, was a very enjoyable musical event. Those who were present passed an hour of pleasure listening to music both vocal and instrumental that was selected and rendered in such a manner as to adapt it to the occasion, the size of the room in which it was given. The orchestra was just heavy enough and the playing sounded beautifully.

One of the things Norway has long needed is a ladies' quartette, and the Ariel Quartette, composed of Mrs. Kimball, Mrs. Finney, Miss Cook and Miss Beal, make a quartette of which any village need feel proud. We predict their singing will be very popular, and that they will have a wide demand for their work, should they see fit to keep up the quartette.

The mixed quartette, Mrs. Kimball, Miss Beal, Mr. Kimball and Mr. Briggs, the trio, duet and solo were all loudly applauded and many were disappointed that the hearty encores were not answered.

Stranger than Fiction.

One of the jolliest story-tellers that ever entertained listeners in Oxford or Cumberland county is O. A. Kneeland, the well known hotel man now located at Harrison. One of his best is as follows:

"In one town where I used to be, there was an old man whose purse and physical strength were both nearly wasted away with years. He lived in a small stand on the outskirts of the village and in a feeble way cultivated a patch of land which belonged to the buildings. One season he was more prosperous than usual, and in the fall had enough laid by to purchase a pair of steer calves. His means were limited and his hay crop small, so when bare ground came again, the steers were 'spring poor.' He engaged pasture for them, several miles away, and one bright May morning started to drive them there. They were not frisky and the old man's tottering steps easily kept close behind them. Out in a long stretch of woods around a corner suddenly appeared a drummer with a lively pair of horses and a large wagon piled high with trunks. The steers jumped to avoid him, but on account of their 'run down' condition one wasn't successful and got knocked down though not run over. The old man's wrath was aroused. Brandishing his cane he hurried to the middle of the road at the same time yelling to the man with the horses to stop. When the team was still he planted himself squarely in front of him, and in a voice trembling with age and rage screamed: 'Young man! just so long as God Almighty is merciful and lets you live and ride over these roads, don't you ever again attempt to run over a drove of cattle!'"

Another about the same man is vouchered for by the same narrator. "The poor old fellow's wife passed away. The poor old man lived together for many years, he missed her and his sorrow was great. Some of the neighbors tried to console him, but they shed copious tears as he commented: 'Oh dear! (boo-hoo-hoo) the good Lord (boo-hoo-hoo) knows I'll never find another woman (boo-hoo-hoo) like Hannah (boo-hoo-hoo). She was an awful good woman to work (boo-hoo-hoo). She did lots of sewing (boo-hoo-hoo). Very last sewing (boo-hoo-hoo) she ever did (boo-hoo-hoo) was this shirt I've got on—the thing, it fits like the Devil!'"

D. C. Clark of the ADVERTISER says that he was once the victim of a child's saying which is too good to keep still even if the joke is rather severe on himself. As we heard him tell the story it is:

"Several years ago, I called on some friends of mine, one Sunday afternoon. They had a smart little boy, not old enough to be believed of his innumerable of skirts, and the proud young parents were putting him through his paces for my edification. Finally the stock-saying 'go and see the gentleman' was repeated to the youngster, at which I held out my hands, conjured up my most winning smile and said something about him being a good boy that I would like to see. He took two or three hesitating steps toward me, stopped and deliberately gazed me the face for a moment, parents and myself meanwhile saying more words of encouragement. Evidently the inspection was not satisfactory, for saying 'Oo's homely,' he burst into sobs and sought the protection of the strong arm of his father."

A freckled-faced girl stopped at the post-office and yelled out:

"Anything for the Murphys?"
"No, there is not."
"Anything for Jane Murphy?"
"Nothing."
"Anything for Ann Murphy?"
"No."
"Anything for Tom Murphy?"
"No, not a bit."
"Anything for Bob Murphy?"
"No, not a bit."
"Anything for Terry Murphy?"
"No, nor for Pat Murphy, nor Dennis Murphy, nor for Pete Murphy, nor Paul Murphy—dead, living, unborn, native or barbarous, male or female, black or white, franchised or disfranchised, native or otherwise. No; there is positively nothing for any of the Murphys, either individually, jointly, severally, now and forever, one and inseparable."

The girl looked at the postmaster in astonishment and said: "Please see if there is anything for Clarence Murphy."

One of our young men, who made a prolonged call on his lady-love the other night, was a little shocked on parting, to hear a voice in the darkness from the upper part of the house saying,—"Leave an extra quart; this morning, please!"

A poor woman who kept a small shop in a northern village, and who was troubled with a husband who could scarcely be considered a credit to the family, one day found herself a widow through the sudden demise of her spouse.

Said a lady: "I miss Mr. G., you must miss your husband."

"Well, mum, it do seem queer to go into the shop and find something in the till."

A little girl who had been taught to pray for others and for anything she wanted, wound up her prayer: "And now, oh God! take good care of yourself, for if anything should happen to you, we would only have McKinley to help us, and he ain't doing near as well as we expected."

MUNYON TALKS ABOUT THE KIDNEYS.

"Wars and plagues," says Professor Munyon, "kill fewer people than diseases of the kidneys. In health these organs relieve the system of all poisonous material and excrete it."

charge it through the urine. If diseased the poison remains and they can bear? No, the blood and increases by minute quantities, piling up atom by atom, until the system can no longer resist its efforts. The heart is poisoned. Its action fails and dropsy appears. The nervous system is poisoned and convulsions and there are other complications. Patients had better send a four-ounce vial of their urine, with full symptoms, to get a careful analysis of the water, and advise the best course to pursue, to get well, absolutely free of charge.

I will guarantee that my Kidney Cure will cure 95 per cent. of all forms of kidney disease. When the disease is far advanced and there are other complications patients had better send a four-ounce vial of their urine, with full symptoms, to get a careful analysis of the water, and advise the best course to pursue, to get well, absolutely free of charge.

Prof. Munyon has a separate specific for each disease. They may be obtained from druggists, and nearly all are 25 cents a vial. Personal letters to Prof. Munyon, 1405 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa., answered with free medical advice for any disease.

Avoid An Early Grave.

How often do we hear, that the average man to an early grave was opened by neglecting a slight cough and cold. Profit by this truth, and provide yourself with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, which instantly cures all throat and lung affections. Mr. W. H. Mahoney, Lowell, Mass., writes: "I was taken sick with a bad cold. The doctors did not seem to help me, and everybody said I was getting consumption, when a relative recommended Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. I got a bottle and it helped me, and after taking two bottles I was cured, to the surprise of everybody. I shall always recommend it to my friends, as I know it to be a sure cure." Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is sold everywhere for 25 cents. Don't accept a substitute.

An old former resident and merchant, H. K. Moore of Lynn, Mass., the inventor, has associated with himself the following named gentlemen, Hon. George W. Ridlon, H. P. Dennison and E. A. Allen, in the manufacture of metallic sodium. A temporary building has been erected and a thorough test of the patent will be made this winter.

The District Lodge of Good Templars met at Odd Fellows Hall in West Paris on Dec. 1st. Four lodges were represented.—South Paris, West Sumner, East Sumner and West Paris, with a goodly number of members from each lodge. In the absence of the Chief Templar, Rev. E. W. Webber of Rumford Falls, and having no rituals, nothing was done other than to meet for a social time. A bounteous dinner was provided by the West Paris Lodge. An impromptu entertainment by the members present consisted of several readings, with good music. In the evening a temperance meeting was held at the Union church, presided over by Past District Chief Templar, O. L. Varney from Sumner Lodge of Good Templars. Speeches were made by Rev. Z. K. Wheeler, E. H. Brown, H. P. Dennison, Mrs. Sarah Curtis and Mrs. David Emmons, with a reading by E. L. Swan. Music was rendered by the choir. Resolutions were read by Rev. Z. K. Wheeler and adopted by the lodge.
